

MECHANICAL SERVICES OR FIRE PROTECTION OCCUPATIONAL LICENCES

The QBCC's Mechanical Services and Fire Protection Occupational licence classes were introduced to address health and safety risks and to improve consumer protection in the Queensland building industry.

If you already hold an existing QBCC Contractor licence in the same class, you are NOT required to obtain an Occupational licence in the class.

Mechanical Services Occupational Licence

You need to obtain a Mechanical Services Occupational licence if you intend to carry out mechanical services work for an appropriately licensed contractor, as a worker.

Fire Protection Occupational Licence

You need to obtain a Fire Protection Occupational licence if you intend to carry out fire protection work for a licensed fire protection contractor either as an employee or subcontractor.

What licence is required?

One of the following licences must be held to personally carry out or supervise fire protection or mechanical services work:

- An Occupational licence issued under the QBCC Act authorising the licensee to personally carry out the work;
- A Contractor licence issued under the QBCC Act authorising the licensee to personally carry out the work; or
- A licence, registration or authorisation under an Act, other than the QBCC Act, authorising the person to personally supervise or carry out the work (for example, an occupational licence issued under the Plumbing and Drainage Act 2018).

- When you apply for a Mechanical Services or Fire Protection Occupational licence, you must nominate which licence classes you are applying for (e.g. Mechanical services – medical gas, fire protection – passive stream – certify)

NOTE: Mechanical Services and Fire Protection apprentices, trainees and students are not required to hold this licence.

To apply for a Mechanical Services or Fire Protection Occupational licence, you must provide the following:

- a completed copy of this application form;
- payment of the application fee;
- proof of identity; and
- meet the relevant technical qualification requirement (refer to Energy and Public Works website).
