

Building Services Authority

MEDIA RELEASE

3 March 2009

Learn more about subsidence... for FREE!

In the current market, the last thing you need to spend money on is fixing costly defects said said General Manager of the Queensland Building Services Authority (BSA), Ian Jennings.

“Learn best practice methods for avoiding subsidence problems on your building projects at BSA’s Trade Seminars,” said Mr Jennings.

The seminar, a combination of technical DVD and advice from an industry expert, will step you through BSA’s Subsidence Policy and insurance requirements.

“These days homeowners expect more from their tradies and these will help keep you ahead of the pack.

“The seminars are part of BSA’s strategies to educate and assist licensees and help keep them afloat in these tough times,” he said.

The seminar will run on 10 March from 4:30pm – 6:30pm at BSA’s Townsville Office.

To book your place, phone BSA on 1300 BSA BSA, visit www.bsa.qld.gov.au or email bsaseminars@bsa.qld.gov.au (don’t forget to include your licence number and details of the seminar you wish to attend).

BSA also runs Trade Seminars on Supervision of Residential and Commercial Building Work, Internal Waterproofing and Water Penetrations into Buildings. For more information on these seminars phone BSA or visit www.bsa.qld.gov.au.

WHAT: “BSA Trade Seminar” - Avoiding subsidence problems on your jobs
WHERE: BSA Townsville Office, 287 Ross River Road, Aitkenvale
WHEN: 10 March 2009
RSVP: Email: bsaseminars@bsa.qld.gov.au, Fax: 3225 2889