

Building Services Authority MEDIA RELEASE

3 April 2009

Learn more about Supervision of Building Work... for FREE!

With the economy in its current state, the last thing you need to spend money on is fixing costly defects said General Manager of the Queensland Building Services Authority (BSA), Ian Jennings.

BSA research shows that a large percentage of costly building defects are the result of poor supervision.

“Avoid these costs by attending BSA’s Trade-Specific Seminar where you’ll learn about supervision practices and licensing,” said Mr Jennings.

The seminar, a combination of technical DVD and advice from an industry expert, will explain the processes you need to put in place to ensure you have an adequate supervision system for your business.

“These days homeowners expect more from their tradies and these supervision skills will help keep your work ahead of the pack.

“The seminars are part of BSA’s strategies to educate and assist licensees to help them stay afloat during these tough times,” he said.

The seminar will run on 7 April from 4pm – 5:30pm at Robina Community Centre.

To book your place, phone BSA on 1300 BSA BSA, visit www.bsa.qld.gov.au or email bsaseminars@bsa.qld.gov.au (don’t forget to include your licence number and details of the seminar you wish to attend).

BSA also runs Trade Specific Seminars on, Internal Waterproofing and Water Penetrations into Buildings. For more information on these seminars phone BSA or visit www.bsa.qld.gov.au.

WHAT: BSA Trade-Specific Seminar – Supervision Practices for Your Business
WHERE: Robina Community Centre
WHEN: 7 April
RSVP: Email: bsaseminars@bsa.qld.gov.au, Fax: 3225 2889

Location	Date
Brisbane	9 April
Sunshine Coast	7 April
Gold Coast	7 April
Innisfail	8 April
Townsville	14 April
Rockhampton	9 April
Cairns	15 April
Maryborough	15 April
Toowoomba	16 April
Mackay	16 April