BSA Contractor Education Show - helping Charleville contractors update their building knowledge for FREE!

“To improve work standards and help Queenslanders build better, the Building Services Authority (BSA) and Construction Skills Queensland are coming together to bring Charleville a Contractor Education Show with lots of interesting and informative DVD and live presentations,” said BSA’s general manager, Ian Jennings.

The next BSA & Construction Skills Queensland Contractor Education Show will be held on Wednesday December 13 at the Charleville RSL Club, 37 Watson Street.

“I urge BSA licensees in the Charleville region to enjoy an evening in the company of like-minded tradespeople and get the low-down on new standards and regulations, see demonstrations of best practice methods, and find out how to avoid building pitfalls,” Mr Jennings said.

Presentations cover topics including:

- Supervision of Building Work
- Waterproofing
- Subsidence
- Concreting
- How to Get Paid Quicker Through the Building and Construction Industry Payments Act 2004 and Domestic Building Contracts Act

BSA / Construction Skills Queensland Contractor Education Shows and Supershows will run throughout Queensland over the next 12 months.

“We have already run a number of shows throughout Queensland with very positive feedback from the tradespeople who attended.”

Spaces are limited so be sure to reserve your place early by contacting BSA on 1300 272 272 or visiting the BSA website at www.bsa.qld.gov.au.
