BSA Firewall Upskilling Seminars March-April 2006

Another round of Firewall Upskilling Seminars will be conducted throughout Queensland during March and April 2006.

BSA through its dispute resolution system and auditing function, has become aware that there is a level of non compliance with the fire separation provisions (Section C) of the Building Code of Australia (BCA) that requires multiple unit/townhouse buildings to have an effective fire barrier between each unit/townhouse.

BSA requires all the following licensees to attend one of these seminars:

- builders and nominees of building companies who over the last 3 years have carried out building work on multiple unit/townhouse building;
- licensed building designers; and
- licensed certifiers.

BSA would like to invite you, any of your supervisors and trade contractors to attend one of these seminars.

It is compulsory for all building certifiers, building designers and builders who have constructed or designed multiple unit/townhouses to attend a seminar by June 2006.

If you will be attending one of the following seminars please download and complete the form below and fax back your RSVP to 3225 2829 or contact BSA's call centre on 1300 272 272. If more than one person will be attending please list all names , addresses and BSA Licence Nos. (if applicable) of additional attendees.
