Human Movement in Fire and Related Emergencies Seminar Series 21, 22 & 23 April 2008

Are you involved in the design of buildings or evacuation of people from them? This seminar series focuses on the effect demographic changes are having on evacuation effectiveness and discusses the potential requirements for new and existing building design.

Jake Pauls from the USA, considered the leading authority in the field, will lead these workshops. He will be backed by local experts on demographics, emergency services and evacuation planning.
