Phone number for contacting BSA's Tully office

The Building Services Authority has announced the telephone number for its new office in Tully.

General Manager of the BSA, Ian Jennings, said anyone in the area with questions about repairs or rebuilding in the wake of Cyclone Yasi should phone 1300 433 236.

"The BSA's temporary office in Tully is up and running at full speed, with BSA staff from around Queensland working in the Tully office to help with the cyclone recovery effort," he said.

"Locals are becoming increasingly aware that the BSA office is open and that staff are on hand to help them.

"This phone number is another step in spreading the word that the BSA is on the ground in the region and available to offer help and advice to locals."

Mr Jennings said the office was a fully functioning BSA outlet and staff could also handle non-cyclone-related enquiries.

The BSA offices in Cairns and Innisfail are also available to assist with cyclone-related rebuilding enquiries and are contactable on 1300 272 272.
