Toowoomba: Update your building knowledge for FREE!

“To improve work standards and help Queenslanders build better, the Building Services Authority (BSA) and the Building and Construction Industry Training Fund (BCITF) are coming together to bring Toowoomba a big day out with heaps of interesting and informative DVD and live presentations,” said BSA’s general manager, Ian Jennings.

The next BSA/BCITF Supershow will be held in Toowoomba on 1 June at City Golf Club, 254 South Street, Toowoomba.

“I urge BSA licensees in the Toowoomba region to enjoy a day in the company of like-minded tradespeople and get the low-down on new standards and regulations, see demonstrations of best practice methods, and find out how to avoid building pitfalls,” he said.

Presentations cover:

- Supervision of Building Work
- Concrete Paths and Driveways
- Subsidence
- Waterproofing
- Plasterboard Installation
- Termite Management
- Fire Separating Walls
- New Financial Requirements for Licensing
- Domestic Building Contracts Act 2000
- How to Get Paid Quicker Through the Building and Construction Industry Payments Act 2004
- Insurable Work

“The Supershow we have run so far have been a great success, with contractors praising the program,” said Mr Jennings.

Spaces are limited so be sure to reserve your place early by contacting BSA on 1300 272 272 or visiting the BSA website at www.bsa.qld.gov.au.
